gladioli 'Blue Heaven'

Gladiolus 'Blue Heaven' Also known as: Sword lily 'Blue Heaven'

Rating: 0.0 (0 votes)

This description is for genus

gladioli (Gladiolus):

Gladiolus or as it's sometimes called, Sword lily because gladius is Latin for sword (which is also the basis for the word gladiator of course). It's a tall and exotic looking flowering plant that will make a real impact in the garden, even at the back of your borders. The showy funnel shaped flowers grow out of the tall stalk and can be many different colours. They make an impressive cut flower. They prefer light soil with good drainage and lots of sunshine. Spider mites, aphids and gladiolus corm rot can all be issues with this plant.
