Shed a ray of light on your garden under the Mount Omei hornbeam.

The beautiful foliage of Carpinus omeiensis or Mount Omei hornbeam is a credit to any garden design. This small tree features gorgeous jagged-edged and distinctly veined leaves that are reddish-purple to green depending on the time of year. This tree will grow in most varieties of soil as long as they are kept moist and offer good drainage. It can be planted in areas that receive full sunlight or partial shade. Mount Omei hornbeam makes a lovely standalone feature but is also an effective option for hedges or screens and with such attractive foliage no one will mind this tree in their line of sight!
